Next Gen Ranger Roof Pack

	Roof
Sound Deadener	1 box (12 sheets) to be spread over the area
Insul-Layer 6mm	3 pre-cut sheets for front, mid and rear sections of the roof

Tips:

Sound Deadener:

Ensure the surface is clean using a white-based spirit such as Car Builders SoPro. Map out the allocated Sound Deadener to visualise coverage. Lay the sheet on the surface to assess if/how it needs to be cut to fit in planned area. Reveal the backing of the Sound Deadener. Place an end on the surface and slowly lay it down in a rolling motion until the sheet is laying on the surface. Do not pull the deadener over any depression in the surface, rather feed it down into the valley. Use your application roller to apply moderate pressure evenly across the total surface. Use the handle of the roller to apply pressure in valley areas. Sheets can abut or slightly overlap. There may be sections with gaps between sheets.

Insul Layer:

This foam is a peel and stick product. It is important to lay the foam down and carefully place the template to the area it will cover before revealing the backing film. Reveal one end of the product and line it up on the surface. Then slowly reveal the backing while rolling the material onto the surface, ensuring you aren't stretching the product, rather try to slightly compress the material. This is particularly important when rolling the material into depressions in the sheet metal. If you stretch the material over and then try to push it into a depression, the material will fight to pop back up. Use the application roller to apply a moderate pressure evenly across the total surface. If you happen to get an air pocket under the material, you can prick through the material to release the air and use the roller to press it down.
